Disney Quest - Pirates of the Caribbean Battle for Buccaneer Gold 55 East Ohio Street, Chicago, IL

Client: Walt Disney Imagineering
Architect: Leo A. Daly
Role: Construction Manager

After working with Disney Regional Entertainment on ESPN Zone in Chicago, International Contractors was contracted to remove an existing Stationary Interactive System and replace it with a Motion Based 3D Interactive system in Disney Quest.

Pirates of the Caribbean Battle for Buccaneer Gold consisted of four separate ships, each with 6 cannons, 4 motion air bags and as advanced Audio Visual system that placed participants in the center of the game.

ICI accommodated the daily operations of the facility while coordinating a variety of specialty contractors to install the new attraction. Any loud work or shutdowns had to be performed during off-hours and the attraction had to be installed carefully since it was exceptionally sensitive to dust and heat. Special filters and cooling systems were installed to maintain and protect the system.

International Contractors also provided a number of alterations to the facility, including a radius wall and mechanical revisions to the Audio Visual room. The Audio Visual revisions allowed for more cooling to combat any heat build-up.
